Dear Members of The Newark Museum of Art,

For 111 years The Newark Museum of Art has made it a priority to share our world-renowned collections with visitors of all ages. This past year, throughout the pandemic and a time of racial reckoning, we continued to connect with adults, youth, and families across New Jersey and around the globe. Ever faithful to our mission: We welcome everyone with inclusive experiences that spark curiosity and foster community, we focused on opportunities to move forward—and there were more than we could have anticipated. Necessity (or a pandemic) truly is the mother of invention.

With the support of our Members, partners, and donors, we became a museum without walls. Leaning into the challenges and the technologies, we brought free and pay-what-you-can virtual programs to New Jersey families and even new audiences from as far away as Croatia, Egypt, The Netherlands, South Africa, the UK, France, and many other countries. Through it all, we found that The Newark Museum of Art was setting a standard for the field.

We offered entirely new homeschooling services to meet the needs of parents and caregivers during this time of distance learning. Adults and youth alike have been stimulated by our up-close virtual encounters with guest experts and culture leaders—from artists and astronauts to poets and zoologists, and quite a few in between.

As a museum committed to “being of the community,” we are listening to the communities we serve and are responsive in our outreach and more relevant with the programming we deliver. To connect with growing LatinX audiences, our most popular holiday programs and Community Day celebrations were advertised and delivered in full or partial Spanish through a partnership with the Museum of History, Anthropology and Art at the University of Puerto Rico.

We are proud of our work to respond to the needs of those who have been unable to enjoy our galleries and garden programs during our public closure. As we prepare to welcome visitors back to a revitalized campus, we continue to serve resilient and diverse communities with accessible and relevant 21st-century experiences. We remain confident these efforts will define us as a vital cultural resource in 2021 and beyond.

2020 IMPACT REPORT

The Newark Museum of Art has provided access to art and science collections to educate and inspire visitors of all ages. Together we celebrate creativity and unite communities through celebration of world culture.

This year, with the onset of COVID-19, New Jersey families have needed high-quality STEM education and the healing power of art more than ever before. In response, our curators, educators, and creative partners shifted in real-time to virtual delivery of art and science programs to combat learning loss and social isolation.

With the help of our partners and donors, we have delivered a robust calendar of new virtual programs to build community and explore world cultures with our members and new online audiences. Reaching classrooms and living rooms statewide and even internationally, our programs offer tens of thousands of people a way to learn and play at home, reduce stress, and find common ground in creativity.

2020 ACCOMPLISHMENTS

The Newark Museum of Art works at the intersection of art, science, and education to support New Jersey families of all backgrounds on their path of lifelong learning.

CIVIC ENGAGEMENT IN NEWARK

There is no doubt that the pandemic has magnified disparities in access to education and cultural resources, depending on one's personal circumstances and the economic health of their neighborhood. We are particularly proud of our commitment to free admission for Newark residents, which allows urban seniors and families to access free services and programs all year long.

Through our P.L.A.C.E. task force, we worked with grassroots community partners to register 1,000 new voters this fall with Project Ready. Given disproportionately high transmission rates for COVID-19 in the city, the Museum launched a campaign to promote wearing and personalizing face masks, distributing 10,000 masks this winter.

2020 ACCOMPLISHMENTS

The Newark Museum of Art works at the intersection of art, science, and education to support New Jersey families of all backgrounds on their path of lifelong learning.

EDUCATION

When New Jersey schools closed in March, we provided comprehensive preK–12 services mapped to the NJ Board of Education curriculum, reaching 300 schools and 120 districts with tool kits and virtual field trip opportunities in art, science, and history.

COLLECTIONS

With our artist partners, we hosted virtual studio visits, public talks, and gallery tours to connect visitors to the creative process. We supported artists by commissioning new work and installing grant-funded exhibitions to be enjoyed by the largest online community the Museum has ever served.

ART & CULTURE

Our talented curators, educators, and artist partners created meaningful moments for isolated adults and seniors seeking access to art and ideas from the safety of home. We leveraged our rich collections and deep international network of museum peers to develop entirely new virtual program models to attract record numbers of online viewers.

Despite unprecedented logistical challenges, the collections team supported the installation of works on loan to museums across the country and the conservation of work in temporarily closed galleries. The team also began the prestigious and rigorous re-accreditation process with the American Alliance of Museums, which certifies the quality and accessibility of its collections to the public.

“The...challenge is that museums cannot become community centers. But they ought to be at the center of their communities...”

NATIONAL LEADERSHIP

In October we took our popular annual fall luncheon online, drawing a national audience to hear five directors from across the country talk about the role of museums in creating positive change. With viewers tuning in from 300 homes and offices, the event netted a record $106,000 for exhibitions and public programs.

MENTORING

We helped our Class of 2020 Explorers hone their soft skills and distance learning techniques as they prepared for an unprecedented college experience. We helped our 2021 graduates and underclassmen and their families navigate college admissions and the testing process, avoid disruption to paid work experience, and receive professional mentoring at a time when safe employment and internships largely disappeared.

... “One of the best museums in the country is the Newark Museum in New Jersey. They pivoted from being a place that only served a small populace to saying, ‘We are part of this community, this city of Newark that has been beat up through riots! And because of that, they have one of the most diverse audiences of any museum in the country.’” –

*Lonnie G. Bunch III

SCIENCE & TECHNOLOGY

A mixture of at-home experiments with Science Pill Live, guided activities like Stargazing, conversations with experts like Ask An Astronomer, and partnerships with observatories, fellow museums, and scientists like Astronaut Mae Jemison inspired scientists of all ages to explore the worlds around them even from home.

* Lonnie G. Bunch III, Secretary, Smithsonian Institution and founding director of the Smithsonian’s National Museum of African American History and Culture (NMAAHC), Museums Issue, Vox, November 2020

“Our daughter so enjoyed everything about Camp Newark Museum, from the free reign over the exhibits, learning from all your wonderful educators, making new friends of all ages and all backgrounds, outdoor jazz and participating in the performances and art exhibits. We loved hearing about it and we feel very luck we were able to share our passion for all that camp has to offer with her.”

– Camp Newark Museum of Art parents, August 2020
